New TPG Bundle Deal Offers Unlimited Calls to Local, National, Mobile and Popular International Destinations

Sydney, 12 December 2012 – TPG has unveiled the latest addition to its popular ADSL2+ with Home Phone bundle range, offering customers more value than ever with its unlimited internet and unlimited calls to local, national, mobile and popular international destinations.

At just $79.99 per month, the new bundle offers Unlimited ADSL2+ with Home Phone Line Rental plus:

- Unlimited local and standard national calls (excl. directory service calls)
- Unlimited Australian mobile calls
- Unlimited international landline and mobile calls to USA, UK, Canada, China, India, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Taiwan, Singapore, Germany and France (excl. satellite phones calls)
- A Wi-Fi modem

“This new unlimited bundle is the most value packed deal TPG has ever brought to consumers,” said Craig Levy, TPG’s General Manager - Consumer.

TPG’s ADSL2+ with Home Phone bundle deals are made possible by its national internet and voice infrastructure covering all call collection areas in Australia, which allows it to terminate local and national calls cost effectively.

“In our new unlimited bundle deal, we can now offer unlimited calls to Australian mobiles, as our interconnect costs for mobile calls have come down considerably despite TPG not owning its own mobile network.”

“We’ve seen international minutes from our home phone customers growing all the time and I’m thrilled we can now meet that demand with unlimited calls to popular destinations,” Mr Levy added.

The new Unlimited ADSL2+ with Home Phone Bundle is available on a 24 month contract (minimum charge $2,029.71) for new residential customers. TPG continues to offer its other existing ADSL2+ with Home Phone bundle plans on 6 and 18 month contracts for customers who prefer shorter term contracts.
